Yellow Jack Must Suon Stop for Want of

ISPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 27.—Cooler weather for the past three days has materially lessened the number of new cases developed each day and the malady does not claim so many victims, while the number of of convalescents discharged increases.

The mercury was at 58 this morning, and at this writing thirty-three new cases had been exported and two deaths.

There are now sixteen nurses among the ill, every one of whom came from some Northern city. The weather has been beautiful for three days and the sunny sides of the streets have presented pathetic and saddening scenes, Slowly and feebly dragging their emaciated frames along, hundreds of people who have wrestled with Yellow Jack and downed him, appear on the streets for light and air,

Added to the wan and feeble look of the convalescent there is on every face the forlornness of one who has been bereft of a relation or dear friend. Almost every family circle has been broken by the epidemic, and every house in this poor city is a house of mourning and a hospital.

Your correspondent was permitted to examine several medical "relica" of the great epidemic by Dr. Mitchell. The liver of a victim of yellow fever presents the most remark. able and most horrible evidences of the awful

ble and most horrible evidences of the awful effect of the disease.

The microbes simply honeycomb the liver, leaving it completely destroyed, only the skeleton or, to use a medical term, the "parenchyma" remaining.

and so courageously in behalf of The World, producing admittedly the most complete and most accurate reports of the progress of the scourge, is doing nicely in The World of the scourge, is doing nicely in The World octtage at Sand Hills Hospital. He has been the subject of many feeling words of commendation from Drs. Neal and Soliace Mitchell, Dr. J. Y. Porter, George B. Phillips and others who have seen him about his work, which took him into the very jaws of danger almost every hour of the twenty-four, He is being nursed by Misses Dock and St. Pierre, of New York.

Wiggins prophesed frost for Jacksonville by Oct. 3 or 4, and our people are hopeful, but the city is still in a most deplorable condition, and the demand for nurses, especially female nurses, is far greater than the supply. Those who were at Tampa have come here, but more are needed. Calls for 700 were responded to during the past two weeks. The various fraternities, Masons, Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Knights of Honor, are looking after their members and their families, each having a special fund and nurses and physicans.

Money continues to come in to us. The committee has received $48,000 from New York City alone, besides the moneys sent to private charities here.

Among the humorous things resulting from the condition of panic in this State was the appearance yesterday of the Kissimine Leader princed on vermillion-colored paper. A new stock of white paper was stopped in transt, printed on vermillion-colored paper. A new stock of white paper was stopped in transit, and the Leader borrowed enough of the flaming red paper for an assue from a dry-goods merchant.

Mrs. J. Beard, wife of a New Yorker, is rapidly recovering from the fever.

Mme, Mathilde Cottrelly will recite "The Glove" with a musical accompaniment; the balcony scene from "Romeo and Juliet" will be given, with Marshall P. Wilder as Romeo, De Wolf Hopper as Juliet and Jefferson de Angelis as the nurse. Miss Annie Myers, Miss Laura Moore, Miss Marion Manola, Engene Oudin and Edmund Stanley will sing; Kyrle Bellew will recite "Lines to a Woman I Loved;" Mrs. Alice Shaw will whistle, Lew Dockstader will give a "five minutes," while Mr. and Mrs. Digby Bell will give the Ko-Ko and Katisha scene from "The Mikado." At the Casino there will be an equally interesting performance. Many well-known professionals will act as ushefs. The matinees at the Lveeum Theatre yesterday in this cause brought $200.25, a check for which amount has been sent by Manager Daniel Frohman to Mayor Hewitt.

The managers of Brooklyn places of amusement are also doing their utternost to swell the fund for the yellow-fever sufferers. Manager Edwin Knowles, of the Amphion Academy, has placed a box in the lobby of his theatre where subscriptions, large and small, may be left. This afternoon a special mating of "Jim the Penman" will be given at Col. Sinn's Park Theatre, the entire box receipts to be handed over to Mayor Chapin's fund. With added attractions to an already brilliant programme Manager Gebhardt, of Zipp's Casino, hopes to realize a handsome some Friday evening, when the gross receipts will be added to the Mayor's fever fund.

BANNER REMOVERS BAFFLED.

Prohibitionists Encircle Their Pole With Deadly Electric Wires.

The two poles from which the Prohibition party banner has swung on Broadway near Thirty-fourth street have not been cut down, although an order for their removal was issued on Tuesday. The cold-water banner is furled with its weight resting on a friendly roof. A neat trick was played last night to protect the poles from the vandals of the corporation poles from the vandals of the corporation yard.

A large slab of wood was nailed on the west and east poles behind which were attached five and three live electric wires belonging to the uptown circuit, which are now a subject of litigation, and only an expert electrician dares to remove them.

The workmen from the corporation yard are afraid to place their axes at the root of the poles lest they may receive a shock that will do them infinitely more harm than to practice literally the tenets of the Prohibition party.

Meanwhile the Prohibitionists gaze with mingled pleasure and pride upon their poles and banner and ask:

"What will Mayor Hewitt do about it?"

At noon the U.S. S. Boston, announced to sail to-day for a three years' cruise in Central American waters, was still moored to the dock in the Brooklyn Navy-Yard, and there was considerable uncertainty as to when she would sail.

An Evening Woald reporter was informed at the yard that the delay was occasioned by the non-completion of her stores. Capt, Ramsey hoped to sail this afternoon.

lice, but the prosecution, in the case of lice, but the prosecution, in the case of James E. Bedell, the forger, the accused made an unexpected show of nerve to-day when he was brought before Justice White in the Tombs Police Court for examination. It was the general belief that he would waive examination and plead guilty to the charges against him, which seemed so well founded as to require no other proof than his own confession, and that he would be committed to avoid the action of the Grand Jury.

Instead of this, however, he demanded his right to have counsel and an examination, and even went so far as to talk about getting bail. The examination was, therefore, postponed till Saturday morning next, as he is entitled to have what he demanded, and he was remanded to the custody of Warden Osborne, of the Tombs.

There was a large and expectant throng in Cheate, seemed to have charge of the case, but nothing had been prepared in the way of a complaint.

It had been determined to base the charges of forgery upon two different instruments, one a mortgage of Elizabeth Hadden to Johannes Kopf, to which the name of Register John J. Slevin had been forged, and the other a satisfaction piece for a mortgage on some uptown property, to which had been forged the name of J. E. Schermerhorn, as trustee.

Register Slevin, however, decided that he was not the proper person to push the complaint, which should be made by Mr. Kopf, and the prosecution fell back upon Mr. Schermerhorn.

This gentleman is a lawyer who has an office at 120 Broadway. He said he didn't know anything about the matter, except what he had seen in the papers, and remarked that they were usually inaccurate in their statements. He acknowledged, however, that the signature on the satisfaction piece was not hile.

When the clerk had prepared the affidavit that the signature on the satisfaction piece was not his.

When the clerk had prepared the affidavit setting forth the facts Mr. Schermerhoun said that it was impossible for him to sign it.

"Why should I appear as a complainant in this case?" he said. "There is no use in making a public matter of all these things. The matter has already gone further than it should. Besides,

I have very grave doubts as to whether Bedell really signed that name."

The prosecution and the Court looked rather blankly at each other, for it seemed as if there was going to be another hitch.

Assistant District-Attorney Hartman came came in at that moment, and being a member of Company K. Seventh Regiment, of which Mr. Schermerhorn is the Lieutenant, he escorted that gentleman into the back room, where after a private talk with Bedell, and a lecture from Judge White, the refractory complainant was at last induced to sign the affidavit accusing Bedell of the crime. Then Bedell was summoned by the Judge.

It is said by his physicians that with care ful nursing and abstention from public busi-ness he will be able to resume duty in a weak or ten days.

Among the callers at his house were Senator Murphy, Dr. Cyrus Edson, Inspector Steers, Supt. Murray. the Police Commissioners and ex-Commissioner J. J. Morris.

Made Good Her Shortage. Washington, Sept. 27 -The recent deficiency in the redemption division of the Tressury Office turns out to have been a more serious matter than was at first supposed. Treasury officials are very reti-cent in regard to it, and very little can be learned beyond the fact that Mrs. Ernestine Bester, one of the oldest and most troated counters in the re-demption division, was found $964 short in her cash and has been dismissed the service after making good the deficiency. She was appointed in 1865 by President Johason.

The Forger Not the Broken-Down Penitent Greatly to the surprise not only of the po-

There was a large and expectant throng in the court-room this morning at 10 o'clock, all of them anxious to get a glimpse of the notorious swindler when he should be arraigned at the lear.

was the answer.

"But haven't I the right to go to the Sunotorious swindler when he should be arraigned at the bar.

They were doomed to disappointment, however, for Bedell was not taken through the court-room, but brought up the back way into the Judge's private examination room by Capt. McLaughlin, of the First Percinet, a little after the appointed hour.

He was accompaned by his brother,
Charles Bedell, and one of the precinct detectives, and they were shut up in the little room for fully an hour before any one was allowed to get sight of the prisoner.

Capt. McLoughlin said that the prisoner appeared to be more composed and in better hee at and spirits than at any time since his arrest, and that he had passed a good night.

He had not aliuded in any way to the statements made by Lawyer Howe in court yesterday regarding his social relations with the late Cashier Dodge, nor had he said anything more about his financial dealings with him beyond the written statement which he had made exonerating Dodge from all participation in his crimes.

He said he thought Bedell was so thoroughly cowed by the exposure of his crimes and other rascalities that he would plead guilty and let things take their oourse. He knew nothing of the truth of the statement that Bedell had at. tempted suicide recently by taking laudanum, nor would the prisoner's brother make any statement regarding the report.

Bedell was still attended by two physicians, Dr. Osbori e, of Brooklyn and Dr.
Allen, of New York, and both pronounced thim far from well.

Walle the prisoner was in the little back from a somewhat farcical performance was going on outside. Mr.

Solomon Hanford, who represented the firm of Chipman, Barlow, Lavoque & Choate, seemed to have charge of the case, but nothing had been prepared in the way of a complaint.

"No: I have committed you without bail,"
was the answer.

"But haven't I the right to go to the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus?"

"Certainly, but I don't believe any Judge of the Supreme Court would grant such a writ in your case."

As Bedell was led away he staggered through the doorway and ne rly fell. He was caught by Capt. McLaughin.

The story that Peter T. Barlow, a son of one of the members of the firm, had been victimized by Bedell in a "blind pool" to the extent of $10,000 could not be verified this morning and Mr. Hanford denied all knowledge of it.

Counsellor William F. Howe was not in court, but he declared that the statement he made yesterday regarding the late Cashier Dodge's escapades with Bedell uptown could be fully proved, though he declined to give any further information at present.

A rubber stamp used by Bedell in fraudulently certifying to the recording of his bogus mortgages was found by Judge Shipman Tuesday in the inner compartment of his private safe. It read: "Sent to be recorded in the office of the — of the — and of —, and recorded in — of — on the — day of — A. D. 18—, at — o'clock — min. — ""

By erasing the words " sent to the " and " recorded in " and inserting in the place of the later the words " county of New York," Bedell had almost an exact fac-simile of the stamp used in the Register's office.
